BEST OF GILBERT

EAT IT UP!

New York. L.A. Chicago. Gilbert. Food capitals, all. You may be surprised to see our town on that list, but perhaps you shouldn't be. Gilbert's foodie cred starts with the culinary cluster in the Heritage District. Downtown neighbors include The Culinary Dropout, famous for its fried chicken and provolone fondue, and the Barrio Queen, featuring 20 inventive takes on the taco. Across town, the 11-acre Agritopia is home to plants and people, elevating home-grown cuisine to a whole new level. This innovative urban farm offers such options as Joe's Farm Grill, which has been featured on the Food Network, and The Uprooted Kitchen, with fresh-picked garden delights going straight to your plate. No, Gilbert isn't a big-city dining scene, but that's the best part: You can relax into our small-town vibe while experiencing a big world of flavors. Bring your appetite, and eat it up.
